

GRAPHICAL USER INTERFACES

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

This invention relates to a method of presenting a control on a computer user interface whereby information stored in a database 12 or the like is retrieved by a user. A GUI control is 5 then selected which is suitable for displaying the information which has been retrieved. The GUI control is created and used to display the retrieved information on a user display 16.